Senator Jones Closeted with Conkling at Utica —Various Political, Social, and Criminal Items.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—U. S. Senators Logan and Cameron, E. W. Stoughton and Police Commissioner French called on Arthur this morning.

Conkling's Conference.

A [illegible] Utica special says Jones, of Nevada, who has been closeted with Conkling since Wednesday night, left for New York accompanied by the Stalwart [illegible] Conkling, who boarded the train and remained in the car till it was ready to start. A large delegation of the leading stalwarts of Utica escorted the senator from his carriage to the train. Some local stalwarts, including Conkling's private secretary, left on the same train with Jones. It was said this morning on trustworthy authority that the conference has been carried on with great care, a stenographer being present most of the time to make full and complete reports. It is now generally believed that the result of the conference will have early and important bearing on affairs at Washington. Those [illegible] have been permitted to hear most from the inside walls of Conkling's residence during the last few days express themselves with great confidence in the ex-senator's immediate future. It is said that the fight of Conkling men for supremacy will not be continued with a show of persistence and it is also intimated by those near to the ex-senator that he does not care to have a seat in the convention.

Senator Lapham Spoken of for the Cabinet.

THE STAR ROUTE RING!

Demoralized—Lightning about to Strike, and the Weak-kneed Turning State's Evidence.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The star route ring is demoralized. They feel that lightning is about to strike them, but don't know just how or where it will hit. Postmaster General James and MacVeagh have evidence enough, they are satisfied, to convict the ring, and there is to be no delay in the prosecution. This morning there was a conference held at Arlington hotel between James, MacVeagh, George Bliss, B. H. Brewster, and others who represent the prosecution. Bliss submitted indictments which he had carefully drawn against Brady, Dorsey, McGrew, ex-Chief Clerk French, Salisbury, Gilmer and other star route contractors and beneficiaries of the ring. Bliss stated he would pledge his professional reputation upon conviction. James and MacVeagh approved the action of Bliss, and these indictments will be placed immediately in District Attorney Corkhill's hands for presentment to the grand jury. James and MacVeagh and other officials engaged in the prosecution have no confidence whatever in Corkhill, and they make no secret of the fact. They do not charge that Corkhill has been influenced by any unduly consideration to favor the star route ring, but believe his social and personal relations, to say the least, his influence him. All the officials concerned in the prosecution maintain Corkhill has obstructed their progress from the first, and therefore was determined to prepare all papers of presentment fully and keep them in his hands, so that all he will have to do will be to submit them to the grand jury. This is why Bliss drew up the papers, and although Bliss has some pressing business in New York, he has remained here at the request of the postmaster and attorney general, to watch the presentment of these cases. It is the intention of the prosecution to ask the grand jury to take hold of the cases immediately upon meeting next Monday, but as Corkhill insists upon presenting Guiteau's case first, that will take precedence. Several persons implicated have confessed and given away operations of the ring. The prompt and determined stand of President Arthur in favor of vigorous prosecution has demoralized and dismayed the ring leaders, who had kept sweet ones silent by assuring them if Arthur became president, the whole matter should be immediately quashed. As soon as it was proper, after the death of Garfield James and MacVeagh had an interview with the president about the star route matter. The president had already declined for the time being to accept the resignations of the cabinet and had requested them to continue in the discharge of their duties just as they would have done had President Garfield survived. President Arthur assured James and MacVeagh that there must be no mistake as to his purpose towards all persons who had been guilty of fraud toward the government. If there had been a star route ring and the government had been defrauded, he wanted the guilty party punished. Gen. James informed the president he was satisfied of the frauds, and if he was to remain even temporarily at the head of the postoffice department he would insist upon having support and assistance on the exposure of wrong doing. Arthur assured James it was his earnest desire for him to remain where he was and conduct the department as he had done since he took charge of it, adding that the whole country had applauded James' administration.

One of the highest officials of the postoffice department said in the past thirty hours that the several persons connected with the ring had surrendered and turned state's evidence. It is pretty well understood that Walsh, formerly of New Orleans, who brought a few months ago several suits against Brady for the recovery of money is one of them. The government will conclusively prove a conspiracy, and unless some of the accused try and jump the country they will probably be in a tight place before long. The action of President Arthur in removing Starr, postmaster of Deadwood, was a revelation to the ring. The star route ring did not know Starr had made a written confession detailing the fraudulent operations of the ring in the northwest for some months past. One of the most efficient inspectors of the postoffice department has been secretly investigating the management of the Deadwood postoffice, and when he confronted the postmaster with his proofs the latter confessed.

The document charges the alleged conspirators with defrauding the government out of $350,000 in manipulating contracts for mail service on the particular route between July 1st, 1878, and June 30th, 1880. One of the counts for the government, referring to the contemplated action against other persons than those mentioned in the document presented to-day, said papers were in active preparation to be presented against ex-Senator Dorsey and several other persons who hold office under the government, and that the counsel engaged in prosecuting the star route cases intend to proceed against them as fast as formal papers can be got ready.

Nobody, ex-District Attorney Bliss said to-day, connected with the star route frauds, are to escape prosecution except such persons as may elect to appear and give testimony against others. Warrants are said to have been issued for the arrest of all persons charged with conspiracy in the document presented to-day, excepting General Brady.

The Star Route Trouble Commenced.

Col. George Bliss, Hon. B. H. Brewster and Col. Cook, counsel for the government in the star route cases, filed in court this morning a long information against ex-Assistant Postmaster-General Brady and others and the following order was issued:

U. S. supreme court, district of Columbia, holding a criminal term, June term, 1881, and now, to wit, Sept. 30, 1881, on reading the affidavits of Thos. L. James and P. Henry Woodward, and a motion of Geo. B. Corkhill, U. S. Attorney of the district of Columbia and Wm. A. Cook, special assistant attorney for the United States, it is ordered that the information annexed to said affidavits be exhibited against Thos. Brady, John L. French, Wm. H. Turner, Geo. L. McDonough and Samuel P. Brown for conspiracy to defraud the United States, and that the same be filed and that warrants be issued in ordinary form as prayed for. WALTER S. COX.

Mahone's Movements.

Senator Mahone has written a friend here that he will find it very inconvenient and he will not be able to remain more than a day or two at the special session. Epps, Hunton and democratic politicians are of the opinion that he will not be present at the opening of the senate because it would be a serious embarrassment for him to vote either for the democratic organization or the republican.

Very Important.

Reed, the president's private secretary, is here, not with Senator Jones in Utica.

Arthur goes to New York.

President Arthur left this city for New York at 2 P. M., to remain until Monday.

New Jersey law has always been considered [illegible] one with common sense, but it tempts more than it did, when it soberly proposes to prosecute Doctors Bliss, Hamilton and Agnew for attending President Garfield without first filing their diplomas in that state.

VIRGINIA CITY, Sept. 30.—Cross-cut No. 4, Sierra Nevada, was this morning into the vein five feet. Two samples taken across the face assayed respectively $14 25 and $18 55. A story was started here when the morning shift came off that the cross-cut was through ore and the same story was again circulated when the afternoon shift came off. The drill was in beyond the present face, but the ground was so soft reliable assays could not be obtained. What is now aimed at is to be shown by the cross-cut. The temperature in the last drift from the Union shaft is 124 degrees. A stream of cold water must be constantly played on the men who are handling the drill. The west drift from the 2700 station of the joint Sierra Nevada winze is being pushed rapidly as possible to connect with the above drift and get air through.

Birmingham was shot in both right and left breasts and in the stomach and will die. Horton was shot once in the bowels and the wound is pronounced fatal. The Mexican is supposed to have shot Horton. The Mexican is not wounded. He was arrested. Birmingham is married and his family live in Mason valley. The others are single men. All had been drinking and the fight was about a game of cards.

TUCSON, Sept. 30.—A special to the Citizen from San Carlos says: Col. Carr's command arrived here this morning, and the paroled hostiles who saw them coming went at once to Capt. Stacey's headquarters and entered a school house, supposing the cavalry had sinister designs on them. The provost marshal counted them and found only 46 instead of the 60 that were a count yesterday. Nantiyallah, his two brothers and twelve bucks were missing. Sanchez said they went off last night to hunt stock. Provost Marshal Barnard recommends that they be moved to Wilcox under guard. The Indians come in slowly for rations, apparently afraid of the military display.

Counting Heads.

Another special says that last night at the subagency, Sub-agent Hoag arrested two scouts formerly of Cruse's band, and who were in the Cibicu fight. They were brought here this morning by Mickey Free and another Indian scout, turned over to Col. Tiffany, and by him delivered to the provost marshal. The count of the Indians yesterday was, at this agency, 3191, and at the branch agency 1174; total 4365, or 47 less than last week, who are accounted for by temporary absences as messengers and scouts.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Shooting of a Sewing Machine Agent.

NEW TACOMA, Sept. 30.—Charles E. Spencer, agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, who was warned to leave on Saturday last by the citizens for ill-timed remarks as to the assassination of the president, returned yesterday evening. About 5 o'clock he got into an altercation with Mr. Dewitt, agent of the Wheeler & Wilson company. Allusion being made to Spencer's being ordered out of town was shortly followed by Spencer's firing two fatal pistol shots into the breast and stomach of Dewitt. The balls were extracted from the back, having passed through the body, and were about five inches apart. One passed through the bowels. Spencer is under arrest. Dewitt cannot possibly live. The examination will take place this morning. Spencer claims to have acted in self defense. Dewitt be defended by Messrs. Clark & Campbell. There was intense excitement last evening and some fear of summary treatment of Spencer. All is quiet at this time.

Schwatka's Lecture.

Lieut. Schwatka of the 3d U. S. cavalry, the renowned arctic explorer, delivered last evening his interesting lecture to a large audience. He goes to Seattle this evening.

Alaska News.

PORT TOWNSEND, Sept. 30.—Private advices from Sitka, Alaska, per steamer Hassler, to Sept. 16th, were received here to-day.

Sitka is becoming quite a commercial place. The steamer Rose, of Sitka, Whitford master, made her first trip to Harrisburg on the 15th with a cargo of domestic merchandise. The same day the steamer C. C. Perkins, Francis master, sailed for Chilcat for lumber, and the U. S. steamer Wachusett sailed for Yakatat on Behring bay. On the 16th the Northwest Trading Co's steamer Favorite sailed for Killisnoo, Harrisburg and Hoonyah with lumber and merchandise, and the U. S. Surveying steamer Hassler left for the southern coast and Victoria.

The voyage of the Wachusetts, to Yakatat is for the purpose of arresting if possible the Indian who murdered the two white men Kerren Campion and Thos. Maloney at that place about three months ago, and to bring him down for trial, together with witnesses that were expected to testify against him. The murdered men were with Jas. Hollywood on his schooner, the Golden Hunter, a vessel of eight tons, on a prospecting and trading tour. Campion and Maloney started in a canoe belonging to and ran by an Indian, to ascend some of the rivers in prospecting. The same day two women who were gathering grass for baskets on the beach were attracted by shots and cries and discovered the murder. The Indian had remained in the canoe as they landed to make a meal and taking possession of Maloney's double-barreled shotgun, shot the latter dead, then fired at Campion and wounded him in the shoulder and after a struggle killed him with a rock. On seeing he was discovered he pursued the women, who escaped in their canoe. On his return to the village he made an attempt to kill Hollywood and wife, who is an Indian woman, together with their children, but was prevented.

The murder was kept quiet for a month and then told to Hollywood's wife by a boy. It was afterwards confirmed by others, among whom were the two Indian women already mentioned. It it had not been that Hollywood's wife was an Indian and traveling with them, they would have killed Hollywood. He sailed from Yakatat in March last, having been compelled to stay there during the winter, on account of the danger of navigating the coast at that season. As it was, his vessel was wrecked before reaching Cross sound as mentioned in a former dispatch. Before leaving he had discovered placer diggings, which he estimated to be worth $10 a day to the hand. He took out a quantity of dirt and was bringing it with him, but lost it when his schooner was wrecked. The miners have long wished to prospect that region, but have been deterred by the fierce character of the natives, who have always been dangerous. Some six years ago they murdered a boat's crew belonging to a schooner which was trading there, but nothing was ever done about it.

The visit of the Wachusetts may result in making it safe to prospect there and miners in order to obtain further information, procured through Capt. Lull the employment of Mr. Edmund Bean, a miner of long experience and good judgment as one of the interpreters of the expedition and he will make a thorough examination of the country. If his report is favorable there will probably be a new camp started there in the spring. Mr. Hollywood accompanied the party for the purpose of pointing out the murderer.

The Northwest Trading Co., of which Paul Schulze is president, have lately taken charge of the wharf and warehouse at Sitka, advancing the money necessary for their repairs. They have fitted up the warehouse in a style that will compare favorably with the counting rooms and business houses of the great firms of our biggest cities and the thrifty, prosperous look of things around the wharf betokens the great advance which has lately been made at Sitka in commercial affairs.

On the night of the 12th inst. a most remarkable display of the aurora borealis was visible at Sitka, the most extensive known in several years. It was followed by considerable magnetic disturbance so that the stay of the Hassler in port was delayed one day because of the difficulty in getting up her magnetic works.

An advantage is conferred on navigation in Alaskan waters by the survey of Wrangel narrows by Commander Nicholls of the Hassler. The knowledge and great judgment of his pilot, E. F. Francis, contributed much to the rapid execution of the work and the voyage from Wrangel to Harrisburg is much shortened by this route.

Collector Morris is organizing a force of mechanics and will begin work on public buildings as soon as the material reaches him. The sawmill is out of order, and no timber can be had in the country. Some of the miners will winter at Sitka and Wrangel. The weather is moist, but not uncomfortably so. The N. W. Trading Co. is gradually extending its business throughout the Alexander archipelago and bids fair to become a powerful, influential and rich corporation.

WRINKLED FACES.

It is a painful sight to see young ladies in their teens with wrinkled and prematurely old faces; nevertheless it is quite common, and to any one who observes the traits of the times the reason is very apparent. Owing to flaming advertisements and bogus certificates, in which are used the names of eminent physicians and chemists, the unsuspecting and credulous have been induced to use some of the so-called liquid beautifiers, all of which are known to be positive injurious and if used for any length of time will destroy the complexion, so that it will be next to impossible to restore it. Mothers should be very careful to see that their daughters do not use these preparations but ask for and obtain Slavens' Harmless Yosemite Face Powder, the only harmless beautifier. OREGON RAILWAY & NAV. COMPANY.

Second Annual Report of President Villard to the Stockholders for the year ending June 30, 1881.

The material of this very important report we select and present as follows, omitting matters already well known or hitherto published here:

The company had at date actually completed 2[illegible] miles of standard gauge road. I expect that by the end of the year the total mileage of new road graded since July 1, 1881, will exceed 300 miles and that the company will have about the same number of miles of lines completed and in actual operation.

BUILDINGS.

The rapid increase of work, especially car building and repairs, and the additions of new machinery, necessitate extensive alterations of old buildings at the Dalles and erection of new ones. The following have been constructed during the year: Car shop, machine shop, locomotive machine shop, engine building for new Corliss engine, blacksmith shop, boiler shop, paint shop, two round houses, store house, master mechanic's office building, dry house, ice house and pump house. The depot and machine shops' grounds at the Dalles have also been raised about six feet to prevent overflow at high stage of the river. Two and a half miles of additional side tracks have been constructed in the Dalles yard.

The erection of station houses, water tanks and windmills was commenced as soon as the season permitted, and is being rapidly pushed at all points where immediately needed. The station houses will compare favorably in beauty of design with the most attractive ones of eastern roads.

The grades between Wallula and Portland do not exceed a maximum of 26 feet per mile westward, and 52 feet per mile eastward. On the Walla Walla and Colfax line, there will be a grade of 150 feet per mile southward for five miles—unavoidable, except at greatly increased expense for construction. The grades on the line from Umatilla to Baker City will be 105 feet per mile eastward, and 110 feet per mile westward at the crossing of the Blue mountain range through the Meacham pass.

RIGHT OF WAY.

All questions of right of way for our lines have, fortunately, been settled at comparatively small cost to the company, and with scarcely any litigation. The right of way across the Umatilla Indian reservation on the Baker City line was amicably settled at a council on the 11th of June, by an agreement on the part of the company to pay the Indians $2 50 per acre for all wild lands, and $27 50 per acre for cultivated lands, necessary for the roadway and depot grounds located within the reservation the whole cost of which will be about $5000. This settlement is mutually fair and reasonable.

DEPOT GROUNDS AT SOUTH PORTLAND.

The necessary surveys and soundings have been made preparatory to the filling and grading of the lands on the west bank of the Willamette, selected for depot and warehouse grounds at South Portland, and the work of filling some 40 acres of the 100 acres selected will be commenced at once. The material for this will be excavated from the high lands the property of the company, immediately adjoining the site referred to. The magnitude of the work is such as to require probably a year for its completion.

RENEWALS AND REPAIRS.

Much work was also done under this head during the year. Extensive rip-rapping, ballasting and regrading was necessary between the Dalles and Wallula, in consequence of the difficulties arising from the necessity of using the only available track materials—is solid rock or drift sand—and for the innards of high water in the Columbia on the one hand, and the unusual high winds along the river on the other. A peculiar system of ballasting the road bed was devised, however, by the engineering department, which, it is believed, will end all trouble in this direction.

All the rolling stock of the company is now built in Oregon shops at the Dalles. There were built during the year: 2 baggage cars, 278 box cars, 244 flat cars and 4 other cars.

When all deliveries shall have been made under existing contracts, the railroad equipment will consist of 51 locomotives, 18 passenger cars, 4 Pullman sleeping cars, 2 baggage cars, 2 combined baggage mail and express cars, 600 covered freight cars, 500 flat cars, 400 stock cars, 40 hand cars.

It is anticipated that the growth of the company's traffic will soon necessitate further considerable additions to both motive power and rolling stock.

OTHER CONSTRUCTION.

Owing to the prospective diminished use for our river craft, new construction in the river division was kept within the narrowest possible limits. A large new wharf boat 250x60 feet, which was greatly needed as a floating freight depot at the Dalles, was built and put into use. As many as 2200 tons of freight have been handled upon it in 36 hours. A new inclined track was constructed at the upper Cascades; a new warehouse at the lower Cascades and extensive alterations in warehouses and docks at Astoria were made.

All of the 27 steamboats and 12 barges employed in the operation of the river division were kept in full repair.

In the ocean division the four steamships employed, to-wit: Columbia, Oregon, George W. Elder and State, were maintained in the highest state of efficiency. The steamship dock at Portland was widened and lengthened so as to make it one of the largest and finest docks in the world. It was further connected by a roadway constructed on piles with the company's principal wharf for the steamboat traffic.

COST OF CONSTRUCTION, ETC.

There was expended during the year for

Railroad construction	$4,247,468 7[illegible]
Other constructions	240,354 1[illegible]
Railroad equipment	296,558 5[illegible]
Other equipments	116,680 7[illegible]

These figures include new material and equipment actually delivered to the company at the end of the fiscal year. The additional amount of about $1,700,000 has been expended for new construction, new material and new equipment up to the 1st of September.

GENERAL MANAGEMENT.

Under the able and energetic direction of Vice-President and manager T. F. Oakes and Comptroller C. H. Prescott, the efficiency of every branch of the company's service was very much enhanced during the year. In the operating and accounting department, changes were made amounting to an almost entire reorganization, and resulting in greater economy, through adaptation of traffic methods to the best known models, and the more harmonious co-working of rail and water transportation. Beneficial results of the efforts of these officers will be felt hereafter even more than now.

During the latter part of the year the company had the benefit of the services of J. M. Buckley late superintendent of tracks, bridges and buildings of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Gulf and Kansas City, Lawrence and Southern railroads, and John Muir as general passenger and freight agent, late holding the same position in the service of the Kansas Pacific Railway Co. The work already accomplished proves them to be very valuable additions to the general management.

Vice President and Manager Oakes, shortly before the close of the year, changed his position for that of vice president of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co. It is a great satisfaction to me that this change will not deprive me of the benefit of his good judgment and large experience.

The total income from all sources was	$9,752,259 46
The total expenditures on all accounts was	8,923,360 80
Leaving a surplus of	$ 829,898 [illegible]
The traffic gross earnings for 1881, were	$4,730,245 [illegible]
Operating expenses, exclusive of taxes	2,023,816 7[illegible]
Leaving net earnings	$1,706,428 [illegible]
For 1879-1880, the corresponding results were—
Gross earnings	$2,989,705 [illegible]
Operating expenses	1,332,471 [illegible]
Net earnings	$1,657,23[illegible]

Against 147,817 passengers and 379,844 tons of freight carried in 1879-1880, there were carried in 1880-1881, 167,787 passengers, and 623,025 tons of freight, showing an increase of 19,970 passengers, and 243,181 tons of freight.

It further appears, that notwithstanding the increase of gross earnings in 1880-1881 over the preceding year, to wit, $1,740,544 05, there was an increase of only $4,631 64 in net earnings, owing to the increase of $730,912 41 in the operating expenses in the latter period over those of the former. This apparent unfavorable result, which calls for more for an explanation in view of the increase in passengers and freight transported in 1881, was due to the following causes:

1. The navigation of the Columbia river was almost continuously interrupted during the months of December, January and February, owing to the extraordinary severity of last winter, involving the usual outgo of operating expenses without any income.

2. The low prices prevailing from last fall till, [illegible] summer induced producers to hold back their wheat so that our shipments of wheat and flour down the Columbia and by ocean were much smaller than in the preceding shipping season.

3. Lastly and mainly, in order to afford relief to the farming community from the effects of the low market value of wheat, we reduced our freight charges fully twenty-five per cent.

Unfortunately, this reduction, in consequence of the scarcity of sailing tonnage for ocean export, did not exercise the expected stimulus upon wheat shipments. Taking into consideration that, with the whole lading the working of all these unfavorable factors upon the company's traffic income, we have net on y held our own, but can show a large small increase in the volume of our passenger and freight business—the surest test of solid prosperity in a transportation enterprise—there is every reason for being entirely satisfied with the year's result as a whole.

The sacrifice by a reduction of rates the company made in the interest of the producing community has already brought its legitimate reward. A much greater acreage was planted throughout the wheat region tributary to our lines, and the largest and best harvest ever made has been successfully gathered. The quantity per acre produced affords additional proof of the fact that in wheat culture Eastern Oregon and Washington territory lead the world. The surplus available for shipment down the Columbia is estimated at fully 100 per cent. more than last year, and the current prices being good, we may look forward to an immense down river traffic in flour and wheat. Shipments have, in fact, already been very heavy for some time past, as is shown by the increased earnings for July and August, as follows:

	1880.		1881.
	Gross.	Net.	Gross.	Net.
July	$[illegible]	67 $[illegible]	$[illegible]	$[illegible]
August	[illegible]	[illegible]	130,100 00	257,100 [illegible]

In considering the subject of earnings, it should be further borne in mind that the greater part of the stock at par has been spent upon new lines and/or construction, but not yet completed, and is still unproductive, and will remain so until their actual completion.

RELATIONS TO THE NORTHERN PACIFIC—THE OREGON AND TRANSCONTINENTAL CO.

In my first annual report, I alluded to certain negotiations as pending between our company and the Northern Pacific railroad company. With a view to a definite settlement of the traffic relations of the two companies, these negotiations were protracted, until last fall, when a definite result was reached in the form of a contract, which was duly executed and took effect after ratification by the respective boards of directors.

The theory of the contract, from our standpoint, was that we could afford to make the most liberal terms in regards both to divisions of earnings from joint business, and the direct use of our railroad lines for the transportation of the passengers and freight business of the other company to the Pacific ocean. According to the contract did embody the most liberal concessions on our part in both respects. It became known to me, however, in the course of last winter, that notwithstanding these concessions, the management of the Northern Pacific under the stimulus of the successful negotiation of $20,000,000 of its general mortgage bonds to a very influential syndicate, contemplated the immediate construction of certain lines really unnecessary and useless considering the facilities which our company offered on such favorable terms, but the building of which would naturally lead to a perpetual and injurious conflict between the two interests.

After due deliberation I resolved upon a course of action intended to lead to permanent harmony instead of the threatening contest, by the creation of an identity of controlling ownership in the two corporations. The operations I entered into in pursuit of this purpose brought much notoriety—much more than was desired or expected by me—that it need not relate them in detail. Suffice it to say that notwithstanding many unforeseen and great difficulties among the most formidable litigation, they were carried to a successful conclusion in the course of a few months, and resulted in the concentration of a controlling interest in the stocks of the two companies in an association of individuals, including the principal stockholders of our company.

This control over both corporations is now transferred to a third corporation, the Oregon and Transcontinental Company, with an authorized capital of $50,000,000, of which, however, only $30,000,000 is to be issued at present and is now in process of being paid in. The large proprietary interest of this company in the other companies is the very best guarantee to the latter that its power will only be exercised to promote their legitimate development to the fullest extent. On, in other words, the new company can only promote its own interest as a great holder of Oregon Railway and Navigation and Northern Pacific stocks by taking the best care of every other stockholder in both companies.

One of the immediate results of the unity of ownership thus created, was the election of our vice president and manager, T. F. Oakes, as vice-president of the Northern Pacific.

PROSPECT OF THE COMPANY.

As stated in the foregoing, there is assurance of a large increase of business during the remainder of the year. The steady extension of the company's system of lines, accompanied as it is by the progressive settlement of the country, assures us of a great growth of traffic. The completion of the Columbia river line from Portland to Wallula, which will be accomplished by the end of the year, especially promises a large increase in freight earnings from the development of an important lumber and coal trade, of which necessaries the former is so far but little, and the latter not at all represented in our traffic owing to the difficulty and expense of the triple transfer now required between Portland and the Dalles.

The Pend d'Oreille division of the Northern Pacific, which connects with our system at Wallula, was completed this season for 200 miles, the whole business of which is directly tributary to our lines. Next year will show very satisfactory results from this connection. But this portion of the Northern Pacific traffic is already assured to us, will prove but a small one compared to the vast current of additional traffic that will be attracted over our roads to the main line of the Northern Pacific when, and from the Northern Pacific to our system, the former is completed as a through line. I hesitate almost to give expression to my anticipations in this respect. You can yourselves make an estimate of what our earnings are likely to be when in addition to our own local business, we shall carry to the Northern Pacific the Columbia business of our own system of 700 miles and to that of the 900 miles already built and to be built of additional standard gauge road in Western Oregon and Western Washington, and receive from the Northern Pacific the bound traffic of its own line of 3500 miles of roads, including main line and branches.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 1, 1881.

AN HONEST PUBLIC SERVICE.

While men will still adhere to their opinions on questions of governmental policy and thus sustain two or more parties in the United States, the events that have transpired since the 4th day of last March, have done much to purify our politics and to inspire confidence in the people. These events have also demonstrated the existence of some of the greater evils that beset the administration of a government of the form of ours, in so clear a light that very large numbers of men who had clung closely all their lives to party traditions and party practices, have seen their mistake and have absolved themselves, not from principles, but from methods and partisan schemes. Men who never calmly considered the subject before, now see clearly, how great has been their mistake in following, blindly, the dictation of self-seeking plotters, regardless of the correctness or wrongfulness of their course. The rule has been that the men whom the people most implicitly trust, who would honor the high places, have been thrust aside to make room for those who could wield the most party influence, who could best manipulate primaries and conventions and marshal the greatest army of strikers and bummers of all classes to their support at the polls. The man who would accept office with a purpose in lexible, to serve the people honestly and faithfully and to do so for the salary which the laws allow and expect no more, nor take more, has generally been, by the peculiar methods and schemes inaugurated and grown into party usage, for making party success subserve personal and selfish ends ignored, while he who cares nothing for the people or their interests, but seeks office for the sake not only of what is legally allowed as a compensation for the discharge of its duties, but often because office gives them opportunities to plunder the public and further their own selfish designs in various ways. To this rule there have been many exceptions, but the time has fully come and the right-thinking people seem to be ready to reverse the rule and make the placing of political bosses and robber politicians in power the exception, and to inaugurate the better way of putting into office the men whose party acts and associations give assurance that the trust reposed in them will not be abused. There has been in the last seven months a great ra ling-off in the power of the so-called party leaders over their followers. More principle and less personality in the men who take front seats is the demand of the hour; good government, honest economical government, in all our public affairs, how to obtain it is a problem which is now being seriously considered by many more people than ever before. A recent writer has well said that all human private affairs are transacted from day to day on the basis of confidence in men. Public affairs must be transacted on the same basis. They can be so transacted with perfect safety. The large majority of men are, as a simple matter of habit and instinct, faithful to their trusts. It is not from fear or compulsion that private work is, in the main, honestly and well done. Men who enter public life do not change their nature, although there have been many instances in which the entrance into office has brought into greater prominence characteristics which the men undoubtedly possessed before. But if a man was a man of honor before, he will be a man of honor afterwards. The security for an honest public service lies in the disposition of the people to put honest men into office. Upon the character of the men whom the people choose to administer it, the lowest administration of the public service will always depend, no matter what programme of civil service reform may be adopted by congressional or other legislative bodies. The majority of the men therefore being honest and patriotic, the real voice of the people will, whenever it can have fair expression, be in favor of honest and patriotic men for places of power and offices of trust. And it is the fact that the methods by which this voice has been suppressed or its expression perverted, have received such telling rebukes, which is one of the wholesome results of the lesson taught by the political history of the country since Geneva Garfield was inaugurated president. The experience has been indeed a terrible one in its great features, but if the outgrowth of it shall be the total elimination of "bossism" and all its attendant evils which have cursed the country, the future may show that the lesson which has been most forcibly taught has been a wholesome one for the people.

IN MISSISSIPPI.

An active political contest is in progress in Mississippi, though probably there will be no violence. If lead as if the shotgun were to be used no more. But the art of counting is pretty plainly to be employed, and in all probability will be carried to higher perfection than ever before. The democratic party of the state has split. The bolters, side by the republicans, are supporting for the governorship a man named King, hitherto an active democrat, who can muster so many friends that it seems to be deemed prudent not to try on the Yazoo plan. To meet the new emergency therefore the democratic managers have monopolized all the officers of election in the heavy opposition districts. King applied to the governor for the privilege of having one representative at each poll. Though this request was reasonable, the governor, on behalf of the state board of election commissioners, told the King committee that the authorities of the state did not propose to be dictated to, and the request was denied. King is, however, to be granted judges at a few polls where the Bourbons have large majorities and where a fair count can do no harm. But in the rural districts where the negro vote is large there will be three straight Bourbon judges at each poll. The Memphis Avalanche comments on the high-handed proceeding in this way:

> The board rejected all the important nominations made by the King party, and imposed all named by the democrats. This is the first step the democratic party takes in the execution of its promise to secure a free ballot and a fair count. The act of the board of commissioners implies an intention to manipulate the election machinery in the interest of one particular party. It implies a fraudulent election. The very best guaranty the governor and his board could have given that the democrat party really intends to have a fair election would have been to appoint every nominee of the Ben King party on the lists of election officers. It would be little more than to state that office-seeking is to be abandoned than anything that could have been done.

In the light of this action the hollowness and hypocrisy of the Bourbon platform is fully revealed. One of the resolutions was as follows:

> No interference by the military power with the freedom of elections, and the civil and political rights of citizens of the United States. The protection of the equal rights of all classes. No discrimination on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude, or birthplace, and no special legislation for the benefit of the few at the expense of the many.

The state board has taken the most effective measures in its power to nullify this empty and high sounding declaration of principles. It is evident that there is to be no fair election yet in Mississippi.

PROTECTION AND SUBSIDIES.

Assistant Secretary French of the treasury department about one year ago made a decision to the effect that plate-iron was subject to a duty of one and a half cents per pound, or $33 60 per ton, and that manufactured iron was subject to one half the duty on plate-iron, or $16 80 per ton. As a result, a large amount of plate and angle iron was imported under the name of manufactured iron, and the price of plate was materially reduced, and has been exceptionally low until recently, when it advanced. The way in which importers succeeded in importing plate-iron under the name of manufactured iron was by having the plate made longer than required, and having one hole punched in the end. Afterward they had the extra length cut off, and sold it for old iron. For this and similar decisions an effort was made to have French dismissed from the treasury department, but the shooting of the president withdrew attention from the subject. Now comes Mr. French and reverses his decision. In the meantime it is stated that the price of plate-iron, which is largely used in ship building, has advanced 40 per cent, and ship builders, who have to pay an advance duty of $16 80 per ton, are asking for a subsidy to protect themselves against the protected plate-iron makers. So it goes under our beautiful "American system." The plate-iron makers got so much "protection,"—that is, the cost of plate-iron is made so great,—that ship-builders can do nothing; so the latter now in turn demand direct subsidies from the treasury to enable them to build ships, and probably will carry the scheme through congress. Meantime the American agriculturist shamefully permits himself to be robbed or the enrichment of these protected and subsidized classes, who count with great certainty on being able to keep the wool pulled over his eyes while they make money out of him on the one hand and his ocean freights eat him up on the other. If the American farmer would look at facts like the above he would see why there are no American vessels building to carry off his products.

OREGON FRUIT.

Partial failure of the eastern fruit crop has occasioned an unexpected demand for dried fruit, which for the past year has been a drug in the Portland market. An order received with ten days has completely cleared stores here of all apples and plums of good quality, and the demand promises to last all the season and consume Oregon's entire surplus at good prices. We have here a fine field for fruit growing and with a fair market, such as now opens before us, the business of raising and preserving fruit can be made equally as great and profitable as our export business in wheat and wool. If with the present opportunity fruitmen establish a reputation for the Oregon product, there need never be any trouble about a market. All that is necessary is to respond to orders now coming and to come, with good fruit put up in good shape. It is a proposition with our people that our fresh fruits are better than similar fruits raised east of the Rocky mountains, and that in preserving them, particularly by the process of drying, Oregon is ahead of the world. It is true that our plums and apples are of the very best quality, but it is not true that as prepared for market they "show up" to advantage alongside of the same fruits prepared by eastern factories. A leading exporter of this city before sending a large consignment in response to an order from Boston, deemed it necessary to inform the purchasers that while the quality of his fruit could not be excelled, its appearance was not what they might expect. By a simple and inexpensive treatment with sulphur, fruit can be bleached to almost perfect whiteness. This is the means by which eastern processors give the fine market appearance to fruit, and our people would do well to adopt the same method. This season of abundance here and of scarcity in the east affords fine opportunity to make money and reputation—the latter not less important than the former. The picking season is just about to commence. Let farmers be careful in the picking, drying and bleaching of their fruit; let exporters spare no pains in proper casing and handling, and Oregon fruit will bring good prices next year.

The enterprise of putting Oregon dried fruit on the English market has been talked about, but no real effort has ever been made. A Liverpool factor with whom a Portland exporter once discussed the question, thought it would not pay because Oregon fruit was not equal to the fine bottled fruits, domestic and American with which the English market is supplied. The difference between the charges of transportation, however, on fruits preserved in the fresh state and by the drying process is so vastly in favor of the latter that it could be sold proportionately much cheaper than the former. If some exporter with a little capital would take hold of the enterprise, we think, and it is the opinion of men who understand the English markets, that it could be made to pay well.

On the 16th of September 2,300 immigrants landed at Castle Garden, New York, making, says the Tribune, a total number since January 1st of 328,000, an increase of 5000 over the total of 1880 for the same period, and an increase of 100,000 over the total for the same period in 1879. The increase over last year for the short space between September 1st and 15th, is 2000, and the authorities at Castle Garden expect that the October immigration, usually surpassed only by that of May and June, will be very large. It should be remembered in considering these figures that the immigration of this year has brought in, as a rule a sturdy, honest, hardworking class of people, in almost every case provided with a little capital of savings, and in many cases with comfortable sums of money.

The Massachusetts school system, so much vaunted, the Boston Journal admits is not quite above reproach. "There are no data," says the Journal, "showing what percentage of pupils end their student life with the schools of the grammar grade, nor what is taught in these schools; but that vast numbers enter upon active life with but scant mental discipline is too well known." Too much time has been spent upon a variety of studies. It seems absurd that it should still be necessary to preach the doctrine that a few subjects thoroughly understood are of more advantage than is a smattering of many. So much time is often spent in teaching children details of an elaborate "system" that the original purpose of "book learning" becomes secondary.

An Indianapolis man of scientific turn of mind has developed a scheme to call down the rains of heaven whenever or wherever it may be desired. If nature will not send a storm centre, he has determined to create one, and this he will do by exploding 100 kegs of powder in a deep well in the suburbs of that city. Cotton intersticles will prevent all the kegs from exploding simultaneously, and thus will be kept up a succession of explosions. A sheet of fire, according to this gentleman, will rise to the extent of two miles in the astonished atmosphere, and such a concussion will take place, and such a condensation of moisture, that the windows of heaven will be opened and the blessed rain will come down, not merely in sheets but in cataracts.

That gourd of French greed, the Tunisian acquisition, is withered and boll spased, and the angry Parisians are noisily asking what all the glory comes to in the business of conquering and reconquering must be kept up indefinitely. Up to date thirty millions of francs have been squandered, and this is only the first cup in the bucket. Furthermore, the Egyptian complication is now just in a pass where shrewd manipulation by the French foreign office might turn the tables on England and give the republic the inside hold on the heritage of the Pharaohs and the knowledge that national hands are tied by the Tunis foray does not make the country more tantable.

It is to be hoped that a report that the republicans in the senate will vote for George C. Gorham for secretary is not true. Of course he could not be elected, but the mere endorsement would offend the best element of the party everywhere, and particularly republicans of the Pacific coast.

CITY.

THE OCEAN STEAMERS.—Owing to some disarrangement of the steering apparatus of the steamship State of California, an accident befell that vessel yesterday morning which will entail upon it considerable expense and loss of time. The steamer left here early yesterday morning on her regular trip to San Francisco, and on reaching the mouth of the Willamette river, from some unexpected cause the vessel refused to answer her helm properly, and running outside the narrow channel, struck and grounded on the bar, where she still lies. Efforts were made several times yesterday to get her off, but without avail, and to-day another attempt in the same direction will be made. The steamship Columbia, due here last night from San Francisco, did not reach the city, having cast anchor off St. Helens bar for the purpose of lightering. The steamer Lurline brought the passengers and mails to this city last evening, arriving shortly after 10 o'clock. It is expected that the Columbia will reach her wharf by daylight this morning. The State of California taking advantage of the high tide last night got off safely and steamed up the river. The steamer Columbia came up to the wharf last night at 12 o'clock.

FULFILLED HIS PROMISE.—One the 2d day of April, Mr. John Ballett, superintendent of construction, when fairly started on the railroad between Wallula and the Cascades, he promised Chief Engineer Thielsen that he would have the iron laid within six months. His enthusiasm was shared by many of the O. R. & N. officers, and all who knew the character of the work to be done. Yesterday noon Mr. Thielsen received a telegram from Mr. Ballett, informing him that the gap between the Cascades and The Dalles was closed. The energetic railroad builder made his promise good and had a day and a half to spare. It is stated by those experienced in railroad work that a grade could not be made between the two points within two years. Every mile of the road was built with nature in the shape of hard basalt rock, but it was met with sufficient muscle, steel and powder to overcome all obstacles. This portion of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company's road, laid down as the best piece of railroad ever accomplished in the United States, not equalled in the world's history.

MATTERS SOCIAL.

THE LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY BALL LAST NIGHT.

Customary Budget of Personals and Minor Society Events—A Rather Dull Week.

The early part of the week past, shadowed by the national sorrow, was void of social events. The Ladies' Relief Society promenade concert and ball last night relieved what otherwise would have been a very dull week. Following is our usual summary:

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Hawthorne of Astoria is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. B. Kellogg.

Miss Cora Lamson is visiting the family of Judge Hurley at Forest Grove.

Miss Catti Weatherby of Astoria is visiting Miss Annie Kellogg of this city.

Mr. Walter Graden returned Monday via Victoria from a short trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Dr. Henry of Olympia is visiting her old home in Lafayette, Yamhill county.

Mr. T. C. Judkins of Eugene has been in the city all week and leaves for home this morning.

Mr. Clopton and Miss Clopton leave this morning for Hood City, where they will reside in future.

Mr. Fred. ... Holman returned Thursday from a four weeks' trip to Spokan Falls and Pend d'Oreille lake.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Herman left Friday for Florence, ... where Mr. Herman will be stationed in future.

Mrs. C. M. Eakins of Eugene left by the "State" yesterday morning to visit her former home in Wisconsin. She will be absent about a year.

Mr. A. P. Hotaling and Mr. C. S. Barnes of San Francisco, who have been doing Oregon and Washington for two weeks, left for home Friday morning.

Hon. R. P. Earhart, secretary of state, and his daughter, Miss Addie Earhart, left Wednesday for Walla Walla, where Miss Earhart will remain during the winter.

Hon. A. W. Bash, collector of customs at Port Townsend, returned home Wednesday from Eastern Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Bash, who has been visiting at Olympia.

Miss Maud Miller, daughter of Joaquin, has taken the veil at a nunnery. Minnie Myrtle Miller Logan is in Canada trying to persuade Maud to return to Oregon. Joaquin is said to be a very devoted member of the Catholic church.

Mr. and Mrs. ... Mrs. Daniel Johnson, Misses Belle Belcher, Mary Christman and Emma Stewart, Messrs. Hull Johnson, Edward and Delmar Perkins of Lafayette, returned Wednesday from a trip to Tillamook bay.

Andrews's American Queen, the great society paper, in its issue of Sept. 3d, has the following concerning two Portland ladies:

Mrs. ex-Senator Corbett of Portland, Oregon, is one of the most elegant ladies at the "States." She dresses in exquisite taste without being fond of display, and is altogether a most charming and affable lady. There is excellent society in Portland, and Mrs. Corbett is the leader when she is at home.

Mrs. Oscar B. Meyer of Portland, Oregon, is also comfortably located at the "States," with her sister Miss Rosa A. Mayer. Mrs. Meyer, upon her marriage, only changed one letter of her name, a very unusual circumstance. She is a lady of delightful vivacity, a fine singer, and highly cultured in every respect. Miss Mayer is a fascinating brunette, and is much admired for her grace, talented conversation and many winsome ways. It is hoped that these ladies will find Saratoga pleasant enough to induce them to come all the way from Oregon again next summer and renew the numerous delightful acquaintances which they have formed this season.

SOCIAL NOTES.

The engagement of Mr. Carl Adler of Astoria and Miss Laura Hirsch of Salem is announced.

The crew of the steamer State of California will give a hop at Turn Halle on the evening of the 13th inst.

A fancy among the young folks at Cape May is for a maiden's admirers to burn holes in the lady's fan with their cigarettes and to write their names alongside.

Last Sunday night the residence of Mr. B. H. Meyer, on Seventh street was the scene of an interesting double wedding. Mr. Charles Buck and Miss Katie Takalo were the contracting parties of the first, and Mr. B. H. Meyer and Miss Annie Takalo of the second couple. Rev. F. Bonn of the German M. E. church conducted the nuptial ceremonies.

Monday being the tenth anniversary of the wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Lownsdale, of Salem, the "Mountain Party" made Mrs. Lownsdale an impromptu visit in the evening and extended their congratulations. The evening was pleasantly spent in conversation, music, etc., and all present wished her on the departure for home, many equally pleasant returns of the anniversary.

It will be news to some people to know they must not, when making their adieus, say "good afternoon" or "good morning," but simply "goodbye." Between friends and acquaintances the expressions of "good afternoon" or "good day" are now recognized, neither is "good morning," said to friends and acquaintances even at the breakfast hour. The terms "good morning" and "good afternoon" are chiefly used between superiors and their inferiors.

The marriage of William Lane Booker, H. B. M. consul at San Francisco, and Mrs Bispham, took place at 4 p. m. two o'clock last Friday morning at Trinity church in that city. The ceremony—full cathedral service—was celebrated by Right Rev. Bishop Ingraham Kip, assisted by Rev. Dr. Beers, and was witnessed by a large concourse of invited friends. The large edifice was filled with a brilliant array of ladies and gentlemen, among whom were represented most of the leading British residents and the fashionable circles of city society. After the ceremony the bridal party then drove to the residence of Mrs. Thomas S. Page, on Van Ness avenue, where they all sat down to an elegant wedding breakfast in true old English style. In the afternoon the bride and groom left for a wedding tour to a neighboring watering place. All the British shipping in the harbor was gaily decorated with bunting throughout the day, each vessel being fully dressed with flags and signals, many so arranged as to spell out the hearty congratulations of their warm-hearted commanders.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Wednesday evening a farewell party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dobinson at their residence, to Miss Mary Clopton and her friends. Among the guests were: Miss Susie Whalley, Miss Sallie Reed, the Misses Walker, Miss Nettie Brooke, Miss Lulu Eaton, Miss Nellie Ewald, Miss Virginia Whiting, Miss Louisa Morris, Miss Mattie Effinger, Miss Emma Haberham, Miss Hill, Miss Eva Lewis, Miss May Failing, Miss Mary Shindler, the Misses Green, Miss Eunice Ingersoll, Miss Eva Wait, Miss Haughey and the Misses Greene of Vancouver, and Miss Williams of Olympia. Messrs. Chas. F. Hyde, Hamilton Brooke, Hamilton Corbett, Frank Effinger, W. K. Hitchcock, Andrew Maxwell, Adam Stodart, Arthur Wilson, B. H. Nicoll, W. Wygant, C. Mostyn-Owen, D. Burnside, A. E. McCulskey, Lieut. Mallory, Mr. Downer, Mr. Spragne, J. Reed, Chas. Purvine, Fiske Walker, Thos. Upton, Dr. F. B. Eaton, E. Habersham, W. Morris, Chas. Kamm, H. G. McDonald, Geo. S. Brooke and L. L. Sawyer.

THE LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY BALL.

Mechanics' pavilion last night presented a brilliant appearance. The great building was one blaze of light shed from a thousand gas jets, and reflected from newly whitened walls and ceiling. Evergreens hung gracefully about the shields for the various states, and the fountain sent up never ending glittering sparkles. The attendance, if in New Market theater would have been very large; in this immense edifice looked small. However the receipts will probably be large enough to leave a handsome amount for the Home. Two tables with any number of delicate boutonnieres and handsome bouquets were presided over by Mrs. C. A. Dolph, Mrs. S. M. Smith, Miss Hawkins, Miss Mamie Cardinell, Miss Withington and Miss Alice Wygant. The lunch tables were looked after by Mrs. J. B. Congle, Mrs. M. S. Burrell, Mrs. W. W. Spaulding and Mrs. C. W. Burrage. From eight to ten the orchestra under leadership of Prof. John Roos rendered the following programme:

March, "Inman Line"	Warren
Overture, Diadem	Herman
Andante and waltz, "Adelia"	Beyer
Cornet solo, by Prof. Smith, "Oh, tell me All," (Russian song)	Kotzebue
Fantasia Semdelle	Flotow
Cornet solo, Polka de Concert	P. Timm

Or the "Day of Atonement," which, according to the charge contained in Leviticus Chap. xxiii, verses 26 to 33, and the precept in Numbers, chap. xxix, verse 7 is the most important day in the entire Jewish calendar, begins to-morrow, Sunday, at 6 o'clock in the evening, and ends Monday at even-tide. The "Day of Atonement" is most strictly observed all over the world, not only by the "Jews" (the descendants of Judah, the fourth son of the Patriarch "Jacob") but also by the numerous remnants of the other tribes, many of whose descendants dive in quite independent and powerful colonies in almost entirely secluded spots of the interior of Asia and Africa, where they are hardly distinguishable from their brothers and cousins, the Arabs, Bedouins, Kurds and the Fellahs; the descendants of Abraham, vide Genesis, xxv, 1-5, and the posterity of Ishmael, vide chap. 12-18. This day is now, as for the last two milleniums, pre-eminently a "day of humiliation and prayer; a day of fasting, supplication and expiation," not only in behalf of the "Jews" for the "Bene Israel" throughout their dispersions; but for all mankind, for all creeds, for all races, creeds, tongues and nationalities, who are but so many adamantine links in the ever-brightening, more and more beautifully strengthening and unfolding the golden chain of universal mankind.

Rev. Dr. Alex. Rosenspitz will preach in English at the Beth Israel synagogue Sunday at 6:30 P. M., and Monday at 11 A. M. and 4:30 P. M.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 1, 1881.

"WHY SHOULD THEY KILL MY BABY?"

The aged mother of the president is reported to have exclaimed as above upon hearing the news of his assassination.]

Why should they kill my baby?—for he seems the same to me
As when, in the morning twilight, I tossed him on my knee,
And sowed for him hopes to blossom, when he should become a man,
And dreamed for him such a future as only a mother can.

I looked ahead to the noon-time with proud but trembling joy!
I had a vision of splendor for my sweet, bright-eyed boy;
But little enough I fancied that when he had gained renown,
Base Envy's poisoned bullet would suddenly strike him down.

Why should they want to kill him? He can do he had cut his way
Through Poverty's gloomy wood and out into the open day.
And sent a shout of good cheer to those who were yet within,
That honor is born of striving, as I honestly yet can win?

Or was it because from boyhood he manfully bared his breast
To fight for the poor and lowly, and aid the sore oppressed?
Ah me! the world is working upon a treacherous plan,
When he who struck for mankind is stricken down by man!

Or did they begrudge his mother the hand he reached her still,
No odds how high he clambered up Fortune's glittering hill?
For in his proudest life-day he turned from the gave him birth.

Shame to the wretch that struck him, and grieves that it did not kill!
And pity for his poor mother, if she be living still.
May God in mercy aid him; his black crime to atone,
And help me to forgive him—I can not do it alone!

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Correspondence from Yakima City—Splendid Crops—Flourishing Condition of Trade—Some Items in Building Line—Government and Railroad Tracts Awaiting Settlement, Etc., Etc.

YAKIMA CITY, W. T., Sept. 23, 1881.

Although scarce a twelve month has elapsed since my last visit here, yet even in that short interval the town has undergone much change—it is only a marked improvement in a general appearance, but substantial evidence of a healthful growth of its business interests. Indeed it can be safely said that Yakima, notwithstanding her isolation, is very rapidly emerging from her infantile state, and will soon take a lively part with other many growing railroad towns, in the race for development—making up for the lack of a stimulus from railway capital, by combining with the farming element in a vigorous and determined effort to practically show to the world the untold riches of her magnificent agricultural domain. Although the town has a population of less than 600—its annual trade will this year aggregate over $300,000, an increase over that of last year of nearly fifty per cent. The business establishments have also increased in number. There are now five general merchandising, and some 25 or 30 other business and industrial establishments, which include flouring and planing mills, brewery, etc., while five sawmills, located in tribe any timbered sections, are totally unable to supply the local demand for lumber. Buildings in course of construction are thus being delayed, among which may be mentioned a handsome two-story district school building, now nearly completed. It will cost when finished about $3000, and will be one of the finest in the territory. Two new church structures, Congregational and Christian, a $6000 residence by Charles Schanno the brewer, an extensive addition to the Adkins hotel property, making 40 rooms, to be conducted by H. D. Merwin, formerly of the Dalles; a no a new hotel on First street, by Mr. Gothard, formerly of the City Hotel. A flouring mill, also planing and sash and door factory will be built, so soon as a ditch tapping the Yakima 2½ miles above can be finished to this point. Work on many other new buildings would have commenced, but for the scarcity of lumber. Although a new sawmill with capacity of 10,000 feet per day is now being built by C. E. Butler, located 18 miles above this point, on the Naches river, yet still better facilities will be erected, and another, also a flouring mill, should be constructed at Nelson's on the Natchess, 10 miles from here. Here is a fine water power with every facility for rafting logs direct from the timbered districts, awaiting to be utilized.

At the present rate of progress, in less than a year from now, the town will have added to the list of its taxable property at least 50 per cent, with a corresponding increase in its aggregate amount of its annual trade.

THE SITE OF YAKIMA CITY

although naturally one of much picturesque beauty, is by no means lacking in the ornamental, and is now beginning to show the effects of time and cultivation in adding to native grace. The pretty park-like squares formed by the graceful Lombardy poplars, inclosing neat private residences embowered in a wealth of choice shrubbery, meet the eye in every direction—indicating the innate refinement of a very considerable proportion of the residents, and this fact taken in connection with the facility by which this rapid and luxuriant growth is obtained—besides affording evidence of its wonderfully fertile soil and exceptionally favorable climatic conditions, will certainly tend to make of it is one of the most beautiful of our many growing towns—if not the Los Angeles of our northwest. Almost all by this most healthful and delightful climate, averaging over 300 bright, sunshiny days during the year, the place is constantly receiving many desirable acquisitions to its general quality. The business and professional men are of the stirring, go-ahead order, yet withal highly social—liberal both in sentiment and action, while for continued hospitality we award them the palm. They extend an abiding welcome to visitors to their country and take both pride and pleasure in showing the observant traveller over its vast level pastures of untold fertility, that he may comprehend the grandeur of its possibilities for future development. Most their summer vacations are spent amid the snow-clad peaks of their own lordly Cascades. Two of these pleasant pic-nic excursions were made during my sojourn in their midst. One party of twenty, including many ladies, under the leadership of Messrs. Whitson, Schneebly and Adams, last month essayed climbing to the summit of Tacoma's grand old mountain and succeeded in reaching an elevation of nearly 10,000 feet. Many of several members of the party are confident of their ability to reach the summit, and will, next summer, again attempt this Alpine feat, and your correspondent having regularly been invited to accompany them, would in the interim endeavor to charter a balloon for this special service, were it not that those disposed to be unchristianlike would stigmatize he idea as being a little balloony.

A few days since the second excursion party headed by Messrs. Kinne and Schanno, with three large wagons and thirteen horses, all gaily trimmed with bunting, made a grand triumphal entry into town, returning from a camping trip upon the banks of the beautiful lakes Kinnikas and Kachecece, situated amid the cascades near the Mosquaimis pass.

Considering the size of the place, one is surprised to meet with so numerically large a class of most delightful people, and when the opportune period arrives for the removal of the territorial capital to a more central point,—it will be found that this and other local causes will combine to assist nature in the strong pull which she will certainly make for Yakima.

THE CROPS

have this year proved most abundant. The yield per acre averaging over 30 bushels of wheat and from 40 to 60 of oats and barley. Threshing is not yet finished, but the total yield of grain in the country directly tributary to this point is estimated at about 75,000 bushels, and nearly 20,000 tons of hay, while of fruits and vegetables the results have exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine. A few particulars of peaches from three year old trees, fully equalling both in size and flavor the finest grown at Hood river. The trees have yielded fairly and next season there will in all probability be sufficient to supply the markets of this entire section. Grapes of a fine quality are produced; while of melons, green corn, tomatoes, etc., the market is literally overstocked. Vegetables of all kinds attain an enormous size of splendid flavor and most prolific yield. It is now a well ascertained fact, that the sage brush bench and uplands of this section when irrigated, are more valuable for fruits and vegetables than the bottom lands. I have just been shown fine specimens of wheat and corn raised upon white sage up-land in this vicinity, even within the assistance of irrigation.

THE YAKIMA RIVER

drains a vast extent of fertile country, composed principally of three great basins—formerly lake beds—extending in a nearly continuous line from the Cascades to the Columbia, and which may be designated as the upper, middle and lower Yakima sections. Each one of these basins is surrounded by table lands from 500 to 600 feet in height. Passes through these disconnecting barriers have been formed by the action of the waters of the Yakima; thus making a splendid natural roadway over these vast level prairies, of a uniform grade to the Columbia. The lower basin consists of some 1200 square miles of splendid farming lands, the most of which are within the limits of the Yakima Indian reserve. However, nearer the mouth of the Yakima, and extending north and east toward the Columbia, in the Sulphur creek section, which is 20 miles in length by 12 wide, comprising an area of 240 square miles of most excellent farming lands, while southwardly towards Umatilla are also quite as large and valuable tracts of government and railroad lands awaiting settlement.

The middle Yakima is subdivided into the Attanum, Cowiches and Moxee sections, and can be said to also include the Natches, Nowak and Selah valleys. Portions of the Cowiches, Natches and Moxee are still awaiting settlement.

Located at the Attanum gap or pass—nature's gateway between the middle and lower basins, and surrounded on all sides by hundreds of square miles of splendid farming lands, Yakima City occupies both geographically and commercially a position of much strategic advantage. Hence with enterprise and energy on the part of her citizens she is very liable to become one of the most important business centers of eastern Washington. ESCORTO.

SCIO NOTES.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

Scio, Sep. 30, 1881.

Roads are drying up.

Improvements continue.

Wheat continues to be sold here. The amount sold and for sale will reach 35,000. Last is already sold and very few farmers have begun that commenced and very few farmers have not finished in some places hauling. Threshing is not finished in some places.

Memorial services were held here Monday evening by Revs. Adams, Barnes, Miller and Osborn. The remarks were very touching in tribute to the virtues of James A. Garfield. The star-and-stripes hung at half mast from the Hancock club flagpole.

Trains arrive and depart regularly, per narrow gauge. Workmen in large force are busy replacing the bridge span blown over across North Santiam. The Oregonian Railway Co. intend to have extended to this point by next spring. The office being in their telegraph line into town, the office being in Johnson & Lane's store. We now have two lines; the old one to Marion and the new to Woodburn.

THE NORTH WEST.

Western Oregon.

C. H. Burch of Amity has raised this year over 11,000 bushels of grain.

But three marriage licenses were issued in Yamhill county during September.

The Washington county fair commences at Hillsboro next Monday, October 3d.

A number of farmers in the region of Sheridan, Yamhill county, have grain out in the fields.

A silver side salmon weighing 25 pounds was caught off Fort Stevens dock a few days since.

The grain of the 23d and 24th ruined thousands of bushels of wheat in the vicinity of Willamina.

A tooth weighing 11 pounds 13 ounces was found while digging in the bank of Chehalem creek a few days since.

The tax rate of Yamhill county for the current year is 17.4 mills. The total valuation of property in the county is $3,471,380.

Willard son of W. R. Derby, died suddenly of heart disease at the residence of his father near Lafayette on the 20th of September.

Mrs. Kattie Rice, teenager, daughter of W. O. Gilson of Hillsboro, died of consumption at that place on the 25th of September, aged 22 years.

Fort Stevens is gradually being stripped of its stock of powder, men, etc., but in the meantime much work has been planned for its preservation.

A little child of Mrs. C. P. Landford of Hillsboro a few days ago crept to the hearth and pulled over in its lap a ten-kettle full of boiling water and was scalded severely.

A musk melon three feet three inches long, eleven inches round at the largest end, is shown by Mr. Powell with Hyes near Salem. It is curled up and resembles a large snake.

Washington Territory.

Mary J., wife of S. D. Mason of Vancouver, died at her home in that city on the 25th inst. She was one of the oldest residents of Clarke county.

A little daughter of George Johnson, of Dry creek, was buried on the 20th inst. after suffering great torture from being scalded. The little girl amble over a coffee pot placed on the floor and the boiling contents came out all over her, causing death after twenty-four hours of intense suffering. The accident was caused by the child stumbling over a large pot of boiling coffee, which had been placed on the floor.

The enterprising farmers of Chehalis are anxious to find an outlet for their butter. At present they are compelled to haul it about 40 miles to Olympia. If a cheaper, speedier mode of shipment could be found, Seattle people would receive enough from that quarter alone to stock off importations from California.

The Dakota, on her last down trip from the sound took ten tons of pump logs from Olympia, 40 tons of barrel material and 414 bales hops at Tacoma, 200 half timbers, 15,000 feet of lumber, 700 sacks oats, 15 dry hides, 90 green hides, 55 bales of hops, 200 tons barrel material, 7 bales sheep skins, 2 bales deer skins and 6 tons general merchandise from Seattle.

Tacoma Ledger. There is much activity in the vicinity of the Carbon Hill coal mines. The new owners having determined to open additional veins of coal, will construct a narrow gauge railroad, three-fourths of a mile in length, from a tunnel on the river down to the incline. W. O. Robb has charge of the work and will employ about 120 men —40 white men and 80 Mongolians. This road will require a large additional number of tunnel cars and a small locomotive, all of which will be in readiness as soon as the road is completed.
